

AIMA Journal Guidelines

About the AIMA Journal

The AIMA Journal is produced by the Alternative Investment Management Association (AIMA) as a vehicle for enhancing understanding about the alternative asset management industry. It is distributed globally to around 20,000 contacts - AIMA members (more than 13,000 contacts) and prospects (around 7,000 contacts). Articles are written by industry practitioners (who must be members of AIMA themselves). The AIMA Journal is a digital magazine and can be viewed at www.aima.org/educate/aima-journal.html.

Submitting an article

We will only consider articles from AIMA member companies in a jurisdiction where an active corporate membership is held. A member firm may only submit one article per edition, and no more than two articles per year (Sponsoring Partners of AIMA may submit up to four per year). Articles may be edited for brevity and clarity. AIMA will not include articles that are not commissioned by us.

Editorial guidelines

We ask that articles meet the following criteria:

- Articles should be relevant to hedge fund managers, alternative credit managers and funds of funds and provide guidance or thought leadership;
- As AIMA is a global body with jurisdictional neutrality, articles in the AIMA Journal may not compare jurisdictions, overtly or implicitly;
- Articles should avoid referring to particular funds / accounts / companies / clients or products;
- Where possible, articles should appear in the AIMA Journal before appearing elsewhere;
- We recommend that articles are no more than 1,500 words in length;
- Depending on the topic, names of individuals or companies may be removed;
- Inclusion of charts/graphs are welcome, though please discuss this with the editor if you wish to include more than two;
- Charts/graphs should be supplied as high-resolution jpg.

AIMA will publish the author's name, job title and photo and the company name. Disclaimers also may be included under certain circumstances. Authors may include their email address and company website. We do not, however, include the author's biographical information, nor do we publish company boilerplates.
